Creative Problem Solver

I am a web developer working and living in Portland, Oregon. I work as much as I can to further my education by participating in online and meet-up learning opportunities.

I am seeking a full-time web developer position with a progressive creative agency or web design firm in Portland.

In addition to development skill, I bring unbridled enthusiasm for every aspect of every project from concept to code to review to bug fixes. I love working on a team where we can communicate easily to share ideas, problem-solve, and critique.

Authorized to work in the US for any employer
